

Rental Referral Websites

The following websites are provided as a means of assisting incoming personnel with locating future residence. We know that the internet is without a significant amount of information, especially for those that are unfamiliar with the Cape Cod area. If you locate something of interest, please feel free to contact the Base Cape Cod Housing Office to assist with any questions, especially those related to safety, complex/difficult property managers/landlord or locations.

For information regarding options for military housing in all areas go to website:

Other referral sources:

* Apartment Guide - The Apartment Guide website provides users with an option to search for rental properties, e.g. apartments, condos, studios and lofts that are available in a particular location.

* Craigslist - Craigslist provides local classified and forums, which are community moderated and largely free. You are able to find jobs, housing, goods & services, local activities - just about anything you are looking for.

* Military By Owner - Military By Owner was launched to provide a comprehensive low cost means for military members and their families to advertise their homes for sale by owner or for rent near a military installation via the internet. This site has a wealth of information relative to the relocation of military members and their families.

* Apartments For Rent & Apartment List - Apartment seekers can use these sites as a viable option to conduct customized searches from thousands of apartment listings, property management companies and private property owners nationwide. ForRent.com and ApartmentList.com offers a wide variety of rental listings that will help you find the perfect home.

* HotPads - Personnel arriving in the Cape Cod Area can conduct customized searches of HotPads for available apartments, condos, duplexes, single family housing and/or townhouses to reside in.

* Zillow Rentals - is the largest rental marketplace, which offers consumers the proprietary Rent Zestimate® and a free suite of tools for rental professionals - property managers, rental agents and landlords - to help them manage and market their listings.
